DAVID ADJAYE'S FORAY INTO FURNITURE

✈ In GLOUCESTERSHIRE this month, Carole Bamford of Daylesford Organic (known for her farm shop's Legbar hens' blue eggs and her style-glitterati-frequented Hay Barn yoga studio) opens The Wild Rabbit (www.thewildrabbit.co.uk; from £100) with 12 rooms in a Kingham pub. Meanwhile, interior designer Joanna Berryman (ex-wife to Coldplay bassist Guy Berryman) takes a more rock'n'roll attitude in these honeyed climes. The Folly (www.thefollyluxurycottage.com; from £1,780 per week) mixes upcycled furniture with deliberately incongruous objets d'art found at flea markets and New York art galleries in a four-bedroom, 16th-century house near Tetbury.

✈ The "gypset" aesthetic defines one of the best hotels in PUGLIA. At Masseria Torre Cocco (www.masseriatorrecocco.com; from €284), festoon lights are slung over the courtyard and an Aveda spa is tucked into the corner of a forgotten orange grove. Torre Cocco's beach club, a five-minute drive away, combines Indian-teak loungers and hammocks with sun-seared Miami whites. Even late into September, this address is so popular that Cocco's owner, Vittorio Muolo, has launched a second beach club, White Beach (www.whitebeach.it), on the other side of nearby seaside town Savelletri di Fasano. This fashionable stretch of olive-tree-covered territory also has one of Italy's best spas, Borgo Egnazia (www.borgoegnazia.it), which opened last August and has now settled into its swing. An hour with "Ortho-Bionomy" expert Stefano Battaglia – for a fluid treatment employing osteopathy techniques – is so effective, it puts many conventional therapies found elsewhere in the shade.

✈ Another European fixture these days is Amanresorts, which, after opening in Venice, Greece and Turkey, returns to its Asian roots this month. Its first hotel in VIETNAM debuts in Vinh Hy Bay, a 70-minute drive from Nah Trang's Cam Ranh Airport – in turn, a 105-minute flight from Hanoi. This geography connects the 31-room

Amano'i (www.amanresorts.com; from $866) with the Amanresorts in Luang Prabang, Phuket and Siem Reap, completing a perfect southeast Asian circuit. And for that night in BANGKOK en route? Consider Cabochon (www.cabochonhotel.com; from $133), a small and chicly colonial, under-the-radar address with a restaurant serving the lesser-known cuisines of Laos and Chiang Mai. ✈
